

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

A comparison of the Medicare Prescription Drug Plan and Retiree Drug Subsidy.

There's a lot to consider when choosing a prescription drug program for your retirees. Do you choose a Prescription Drug Plan (PDP) or Retiree Drug Subsidy (RDS) prescription program? Before selecting a plan, consider the pros and cons.

PDP	RDS
Pros: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Up-front federal dollars indirectly lower final costs. • PDP federal subsidy is more predictable than RDS returns. • Less administrative burden for employers. • Catastrophic benefit included in all plans. • No creditable coverage notice required. • No employer contributions necessary. • Reduces FASB (Financial Accounting Standards Board) or GASB (Governmental Accounting Standards Board) liabilities due to lower plan premiums. • Opportunity to adjust cost-sharing levels. • No additional actuarial expense and annual attestation. 	Pros: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • No change to current (creditable) benefit plan. • Able to keep coverage consistent if retiree (creditable) prescription plan same as active. • FASB or GASB reduction for fully-insured plans. • Opportunity to adjust cost-sharing levels. • Twenty-eight percent federal direct tax-free subsidy. • Tax deduction for benefit costs. • Easy front-end eligibility process. • Online application. • RDS Web site provides easy access to information.
Cons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • May change existing benefit plan, funding and formulary. • Different benefits for Medicare and non-Medicare eligible retirees. • No tax benefit from federal direct subsidy. • Lower tax deduction for benefit costs due to lower premiums. • No enrollment support for retirees. • Opt-out language may be confusing to retirees. • Retirees who change from one PDP to another may also accidentally cancel medical coverage. • Restrictive formulary. • Susceptible to yearly CMS (Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services) benefit changes. • Possible complications with low-income assistance or late enrollment penalties. 	Cons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Yearly application and attestation which includes actuarial expense to request data and perform testing. • Meaningful employer contributions necessary to meet attestation requirements. • Must manage eligibility, claim and rebate data. • Required to send creditable coverage notice to members and CMS. • Cannot apply RDS payments to retiree health liabilities. • Possibility of expense and business disruption for federal audit. • Risk of adjusted subsidy payments at reconciliation.
